

FaithBuilders: The 1st Annual FaithBuilders workshop will be July 3-5, on the PLU campus in Tacoma. FaithBuilders is a Northwest spiritual growth workshop for the purpose of building up the Body of Christ to be full grown in service to Christ. You can register for the workshop here at <http://faithbuildersnw.com/contactus.html>. There will be child care provided and on Saturday, July 5th, a youth rally for the teens. We are still in need of volunteers in the areas of childcare, registration, and transportation. The Springbrook congregation is organizing childcare and are in need of 7 adults (with teens mixed in) to fill a 3 hour spot on either Thursday afternoon, July 3rd or Friday morning, July 4th. Teaching and activities materials will be provided for the time frame. All you would need to do is teach the material and watch the children. Registration is in need of a few more people to help out at the registration table. Please see Carolyn McCaul if you would like to help in either childcare or registration. Lastly, Robert Henton is needing help with transporting speakers to and from their hotel rooms. Please see Robert if you would like to help with transportation. All volunteers who put in at least 3 hours during the workshop will receive a free CD set of all the lessons.

It Pays To Be A Christian!

"For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and forfeits his soul?" (Matthew 16:26, ESV).

You know the story of early Christianity. Courageous church members were thrown to the lions, burned at the stake, executed for the "crime" of holding on to their faith. Becoming a Christian meant risking your job, your social status, perhaps even your life.

But in the year 313 Constantine the Great issued the Edict of Milan, where Christianity was legalized. After almost three hundred years of persecution, the early church took a sigh of relief. It seemed like the best thing that ever happened to the church.

Its effect, however, went much further than merely tolerating Christianity. It became apparent that being a Christian was an advantage. Having the local Bishop vouch for church membership opened the way up for jobs and promotions. Thousands flocked to the church, proclaiming their faith in Jesus. The church enjoyed unprecedented growth, at least numerically.

But there was something troubling about the partnership between church and state, Caesar and Christ. Lost in the enthusiasm, the construction of state-funded cathedrals and the host of new members was the call of the man they supposedly followed.

The church was saying: "It pays to be a Christian." Jesus was saying: "If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me" (Matthew 16:24).

Either Jesus needed a better Public Relations department, or the church had lost its way. Someone has observed that the problem with Christians these days is that no one wants to kill them anymore. I remember that during the Cold War, when believers in Russia were driven underground, that they prayed that Christians in the West would remain faithful, and not succumb to the temptations of ease and material abundance!

Does it pay to be a Christian, or does it cost? Are we to exchange a couch for a towel, or should we get rich on the Stock Exchange? Do we want to have the Christ of the cross...without the cross of Christ?

He demands sacrifice, obedience, submission to him. It costs to be a Christian. But following Christ is worth the cost. The rewards are eternal.
